Gettig took care of Seitz's bounder, retiring the side. For Richmond, Reeve rapped a hot grounder through short and Timan again flew out to Dingle. Wallace hit to centre. But for Wallace's poor base-running, another run might have been added here. Slebrie took two strikes, waiting for Wallace to steal second, having signaled for the hit and run play, bift Wallace stuck to the bars, After Slebrie had flown out, Gettig drove a safe one to right, and Wallace in trying to reach third was thrown out by Dingle, retiring the side.

Norfolk added another run in the fourth. After Slebrie and Warren had disposed of Manlon, Griffin beat out a hit and kept on to second on Warren's error. Jackson was out short to first, but Griffin secred on Reev's fumilie of Manlon's hot drive. Ruhland was thrown out trying to steal second. Richmond also used their clubs in the fourth. Warren singled to right, Cowen followed suit and Long went out, second to first, advancing the runners. Heffron singled to centre and Warren and Cowan counted. To Long, retiring the side.

In Richmond's half, Heffron opened with a two-sacker and was advanced to third on Reeve's single, which was well fielded. Titman drove a long high fly to Dingle and Heffron scored after the catch. Wallace's pop-fly was mulfed by Edwards, but Reeve was cut off at Second, Wallace going safe. Siebrie was the man for the moment and drove a long fly to the residence in left centre, scoring two men. Gettig drove a fly to Dingle.

The visitors did not get a hit or a run in the second, though Seltz, the first man up, was safe at first on Long's error, and was advanced on Manion's sacrifice, but could not score. In Richmond's half Cowan was safe on tender words's error, and Long advanced him to second by sacrificing. Then Heffron hit into an easy double play, with Manlon doing the stunt unassisted.

In the third, after two were out, Norfolk scored again. Siebrie threw Ruhland out at first and Cumming sent a fly to Heffron. Dingle walted and walked, and then swiped second and scored on Edwards's double. Otey hit to left, but Heffron's fast fielding held
